Seniors May Register for Executive Day

Seniors who expect to secure employment in Omaha after graduation have been asked to register for Senior Executive Day.

Registration will be on Nov. 6 and 7 from 8 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. at the Auditorium check room window, first floor of the Administration Building.

The annual visit to local businesses will be Nov. 14. Participating seniors will be the guests of Omaha business firms in the fields of services, manufacturing, transportation, and communication.

The top executive of each firm will discuss the history, capital structure, personnel, markets and profit picture of his company.

These comprehensive firm tours are designed to help seniors to see free enterprise in Omaha in operation.

To Tour 16 Firms

Seniors may select the industry they wish to visit from the following list of firms: Bishop Clarkson Hospital, Federal Reserve Bank, Guarantee Mutual, McKesson & Robbins, Meredith WOW, Mutual of Omaha, Northern Natural Gas, Northwestern Bell Telephone, Omaha National Bank, Omaha Steel Works, Sheraton Fontenelle Hotel, Swift & Co., Union Pacific Railroad, Union Stock Yards Co., United Air Lines and Western Electric.

Seniors Excused

Seniors who participate will be excused from classes, including student teaching.

The Omaha Rotary Club in cooperation with the University is sponsoring the seventh annual "Senior Executive Day."

UCS Volunteers Open OU Branch

The Volunteer Bureau of the United Community Services has opened an Omaha University Branch in cooperation with the Student Council this week.

A booth was set up in front of the Book Store each day so students could register and inquire about Volunteer needs in the community.

After today, the Branch will be open from 9 to 1 on Tuesdays and Thursdays in the Student Center.

A coffee was held Oct. 30 in Room 312 of the Student Center. The slide presentation "Satisfaction Guaranteed" was shown.

The Volunteer Bureau is a central clearing house through which citizens may participate in community affairs. Some services are: delivering flowers to hospital patients, counseling and assisting in game activities in the summer.

Specialist to Explain, Sing Negro Spirituals

Dr. Zelma George, distinguished sociologist and a recognized authority on Negro music, will lecture at the fifth University Nights lecture.

Dr. George, who will replace Kshama Fernando, will lecture on "Understanding the Negro Spiritual."

Being a singer as well as an actress, she has starred in such Broadway musicals as the "Three Penny Opera." Dr. George will illustrate her lecture by singing excerpts from Negro spirituals.

The program will be held in the Eppley Conference Center Auditorium tonight at 8.

1-Way Traffic Is Confusing

Clarence Lefler, Building and Grounds head, stressed that OU campus one-way streets are in effect at all hours. He said he had received calls from students who thought otherwise.

Another one-way system was set up in Elmwood Park Tuesday. Students who enter the campus through the park via the 57th and Pacific entrance no longer have a choice of routes.

An array of one-way arrows and signs indicate one route toward the University near the Park pavilion, and another route heading back toward Pacific on a parallel road to the west, near the golf course.

The new traffic pattern will not affect the route from Dodge Street through the Park to the south entrance to OU.

OU Debaters To Play Host

Today and tomorrow will be full days for Omaha University debaters.

Today marks the beginning of the University of Omaha Annual Debate Tournament at which the OU squad will debate and play host to debaters from six states.

Wisconsin State College, University of Missouri, Iowa State University, State University of South Dakota, University of Nebraska and Monmouth College in Illinois are a few of the schools to be represented.

The proposition for debate is: Resolved that Labor Organizations Should be under the Jurisdiction of Anti-Trust Legislation. Debates will be held on both Junior and Senior Division levels.

Activities will run from 11:30 to 5:15 today, and from 8 to 11:15 tomorrow. OU students are invited to sit in on any of these.

Highlighting the tournament will be the presentation of traveling trophies and other awards at 12:30 tomorrow.

Professor Donald Orban, director of forensics, organized the program.

Activities Position Goes to Gerbracht

William J. Gerbracht has been transferred from head of Student Placement to the new position of Director of Student Activities.

Dr. Milo Bail said the appointment was made to handle increased enrollment and interest in student activities.

The transfer went into effect Nov. 1.

Mr. Gerbracht will be in charge of petitions, parties, dances and arrangements for all University social functions.

Mrs. Yvonne H. Harsh, will be head of Teacher and Student Placement.

Congolese Art 'Cinema' Topic

A documentary which examines the creative spirit of the Belgian Congolese through his art, "Under The Black Mask," will be presented November 6 by the University Cinema.

Voted the best documentary at the International Art Films Festival, the film shows African culture through native life.

It will be shown at 8 p. m. in the Conference Center Auditorium.

Princess Virginia Anderson Reigns Over Homecoming

By Carole Seibert

A crowning, football games, embarrassment and accidents were only part of last week's Homecoming activities.

Virginia Anderson was named the Homecoming Princess for 1961-62 at last Friday's Council Fire.

Miss Anderson, who was elected Oct. 25, is president of Chi Omega Sorority and a member of Waokiya, Orchesis, and Alpha Lambda Delta.

She received a football from 'O' Club; a pearl ring from the Alumni; an engraved gold bracelet, two bouquets, and her picture from the Student Council; flowers from her sorority and a trophy.

Activities for the weekend included a pep rally, a parade, a snake dance, a Council Fire, a dance and the game. Various incidents occurred during the festivities.

Jose Pedro Phillipi Wadalupe Guissippi Humandes Raven, alias Jim Howard, and Rollie Krebs, as an interviewer, highlighted the Friday Pep Rally with a take-off on the Jose Humales astronaut record.

Two accidents and a football game with cars highlighted the afternoon parade. Kathy Bowman broke her wrist when the car in which she was riding rammed into the back of a stopped car.

Except for the scraped bumpers of three borrowed cars, little damage was done in an accident at Fortieth and Dodge Streets.

Sigma Kappa sorority is the unofficial winner of the car football game. A carload of Sigma K's intercepted the ball of kids who were playing a football game in the street. The ball was then passed from car to car.

The parade of 105 cars toured the downtown area. Independent Student Association received a first place trophy for car decorations.

The Ahamo Indians, a group of professional Indian dancers, performed at the Council Fire.

At the dance Friday night, it was announced that a fifth princess candidate, Denny Madigan, received three write-in votes.

During the halftime of the football game the Tekes circled the stadium in an airplane with the banner "TEKES Back OU."

Getting back to earth, Alumni Dick Bock did the ritual dance of Ouampli, symbol of school spirit.

Power Fails; Lights Out

Last Friday's power failure caused many and varied reactions from Omaha University students and personnel.

Students in the Quampli Room at the time of the blackout began singing the songs of their respective organizations and held an unofficial pep rally.

Some professors let their classes out early while others kept on lecturing in near darkness.

The blackout affected a major part of west Omaha with power being restored in less than an hour.

One bright spot about the power failure was that it showed the effectiveness of the automatic battery lighting system, without which there would have been total darkness in certain rooms on campus.

Official Notices

Two trophies are in the Dean of Students office waiting for whoever won them during the float contest last week to pick them up. Interested students may attend.

Parents tickets for the Parents Day game must be purchased by 4:45 p. m. today. They will not be available at the gate tomorrow. The tickets are $1.50.

The Open Forum meeting will be held Tuesday in Alcove's "C" and "D" at 11:30 in the Student Center Cafeteria. Edmund McCurtain, Head of the Sociology Department, will present visual aids on the 1960 Juvenile Delinquency Report.

Captain Chambers and Sergeant Tilford of the Air Force Recruiting Service will be in the Game Room of the Student Center Nov. 10 from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. They will have the latest information on career opportunities in the Air Force.

Students planning to graduate in January, 1962, should make application in the Registrar's office, Room 220 in the Administration Building. The fee for an undergraduate degree is $10, and $15 is charged for a graduate degree.

Professor Gore To Give Speech

The influence of speech in the development of a democratic society will be discussed by Professor Warren Gore of the speech department at the November 9 Legacy of Man presentation.

Professor Gore will explain how freedom and democracy cease when authority is not subject to criticism.

The chain that extends from 500 B. C. to the present will be interpreted in terms of what speech has meant to man and culture. The development of rhetoric and speech techniques will be discussed through the contributions of theorists and practitioners.

The discussion will be broadcast by station KQAL-FM from 9:30 to 10 p. m.

Scholarship Given To OU Student

The Bootstrap Scholarship, initiated two years ago, has been awarded to a University of Omaha Senior.

Kent McCallum, winner of the award, will receive his tuition for an entire year.

Requirements for the scholarship, provided entirely by bootstrappers on campus, are a three-point average and enrollment in Liberal Arts.

Affairs' Features African Situation

Peter Ritner, author of The Death of Africa, will address the Omaha University Institute of World Affairs, Nov. 8, in the University Auditorium.

Mr. Ritner, the fifth in the six-speaker series, is currently an editor of the Macmillan Company, publishers. He was also feature editor of the Saturday Review for five years.

Anyone who is interested in better understanding what is happening to the world he lives in, should attend Mr. Ritner's lecture, "Crisis and Challenge in Africa." He will discuss the African situation—its underdevelopment and the constant threat of Communism.

Dr. Albert Parry spoke Wednesday on "the Soviet-Chinese Puzzle—a Fragile Alliance."

A get-together will be held after the Parents Day game tomorrow afternoon.

Cider and sandwiches will be served in the Student Center immediately following the game. All students and parents are invited to attend.

A representative parent will be selected and honored during half-time. A trophy will also be presented to on-campus group selling the most Parents Day tickets.

Two thousand helium-filled balloons will be passed out to the crowd on "a first come, first served" basis. They will be released at kick-off time. This added event is being sponsored by the GATEWAY.

Music Recital Slated Sunday

James Taggart will present a piano recital in the Student Center Ballroom Sunday at 7:30 p. m. This recital is the first in a series of Faculty Recitals and Concerts to be given this year.

On Jan. 14, the Faculty Trio will give a concert of Chamber Music. The Trio includes Mr. Taggart, piano; Dr. James Peterson, violin, and Mrs. Helena Bell, cello. Mr. Kermit Peters will accompany them on the oboe.

Military Lenient Toward College Students

By Rusty Harmsen

Omaha University students facing the prospect of being drafted or being recalled to active duty in the reserves will be glad to know that the present policy of the Selective Service Reserve Boards still gives more weight to a student's staying in school over serving in the armed forces.

In an interview by U. S. News and World Report of Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, Gen. Hershey made the following statement, "It's better to have a boy doing something, even if it's just barely staying in school, than to have him doing nothing."

He went on to say that even students in the lower one-fourth of their class have a good chance of being deferred. This would tend to eliminate unnecessary dropping out of students who are discouraged because of grades, etc., and figure they might as well quit school since they will probably be drafted anyway.

Gen. Hershey estimated there are from 100,000 to 150,000 students in school who are classified as 1-A because they haven't told the draft board they are students. Many of them figure that since a deferment extends the draft age to 35, it's better to take a chance and slip by the 26 year old draft limit.

However, said Gen. Lewis, local boards tend to react individually to flareups such as Berlin and may take some students in the lower end of academic standings. But a student classified as 1-A can appeal to the draft board to have it changed, and as of now, stands a good chance of doing it.

According to the information Office of the Sixteenth Army Corps, the Reserve policy is also in favor of the student.

Even students in the active reserves have a good chance of staying in school if they are called back to active duty. Students who face a call up should first check to see if they are eligible to be excused.

Those who are receiving government aid or are in the physical sciences such as math or chemistry will receive the most attention.

But any student who wishes, may, in case of call up, present a resume of his school activities from the University to his reserve unit or to the Reserve Board.

Those who are called up by the reserves and have no recourse but to go, are protected by an OU Resolution, No. 1834, dated February 23, 1951, which states—

RESOLVED, that students who are activated to military service because of their membership in the "RESERVES" of the armed forces, shall benefit under Resolution No. 1791, that is, if they cannot complete enough work to receive any credit, the entire fees, including all incidentals of the current semester shall be refunded; or if they can complete a sufficient amount of work to receive partial credit under Resolution 1788, tuition fees (not incidentals) will be pro-rated and refunded on the basis of unearned credits.

Emotions Aroused . . .

'Nuclear Warfare' Phrase Represents Horror, Death

By Leigh Wilson

"Nuclear Warfare"—a phrase new to our language.

Only a handful of people in the world actually know what it is and what it can do. Even fewer control it.

Yet these two words probably arouse as much emotion in the world as any others. They have come to represent fright, Devastation, Horror, Death. Even—if the mind can conceive it—the end of human life on this planet; the end of the world, inflicted by man's own creative-destructive hand.

Pleasant? No.

Possible? Yes.

Likely? A matter of speculation.

Some people have never heard of nuclear warfare. To many, it has only a vague meaning; only another threat—a faraway, unreal thing.

But to Omahans, it represents a very real threat. Because of the Strategic Air Command Headquarters south of Omaha, defense officials rate Omaha as a prime enemy attack target.

In the last seven weeks, Russia has detonated nearly 30 atomic devices, one of them at least 50 megatons . . . the largest man-made explosion in history. The Russians call it "testing." If it be testing, it can be for only one purpose: to use it.

But it may be that the Russians are already using their bombs in war—a psychological war for men's minds. A war that makes people scramble to build shelters and say "better Red than dead." If this be the case, how is their "war" coming? Are people mad? Apathetic? Frightened?

President Ball and the Gateway would like to sample the attitude of OU students and faculty members. Below is a questionnaire with several inquiries as to your feelings. Would you take a few seconds to analyze your thoughts, and express yourself, and drop the questionnaire in the box at the Student Center information desk or the Gateway Office AA 116. The Gateway will carry a tabulation of the results next week.

Since Russian testing began, danger from radiation in the air has been an almost daily headline topic.

Is there danger? To whom? How much?

Associate Professor of Physics John McMillan explained that most ground blast radiation falls back on the ground in the immediate area of ground zero. But if the device is an air blast, radiation is sent high into the atmosphere, where it attaches itself to dust and other minute debris. This type of contamination remains active for months or years, and eventually falls to earth in raindrops or because of gravity.

Some experts claim that hundreds of bombs could be detonated before radiation would approach the danger point.

Others disagree and say radiation is still too much a mystery and should be regarded as dangerous in any amount. Small amounts of radiation have been likened to a girl who is "just a little bit pregnant."

Professor McMillan said it's still to early to know what effects radiation may have on genetic changes in future generations.

Monday, physics students at OU took a radiation count and found that after a lull in Russian testing, the reading was lower than two weeks before, following several tests.

Mr. McMillan said that the count, reading in micro-Roentgens is still far, far below the recognized human danger level, which is about 250 full Roentgens. But he pointed out again that no one knows what effects even such small amounts will ultimately have on humans.

"No testing at all is safest," he said, "but if United States testing is necessary to maintain a military striking position, we'll just have to be willing to take a chance."

Mr. McMillan was a bit doubtful about shelters in a target city like Omaha.

"A shelter deep in the ground would be safe, discounting a direct hit," he said, "but how many could get to one?" He went on, "if I lived away from a major target city, I would give serious thought to turning the old potato cellar into a shelter." Then he thought for a moment and expressed doubt as to whether he would want to be around after a nuclear holocaust.

"The solution to the whole thing is so simple it's almost ridiculous," he said . . . "people only have to learn to get along with each other."

But they never have, and if the present situation is any indication of the future, they never will.

Maverick Is Dealing at OU

From 7:00 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., "Maverick" is busy in the Gallagher Game Room checking the bridge and pinochle decks in and out.

Mrs. Maurine Replogle, fondly referred to as "Maverick" by the card fans, is the recreation director in the Student Center.

She reports that bridge, chess and pool are the students' favorite time killers. The game room is equipped with six cribbage sets, six sets of checkers, six domino games, twelve bridge decks, six chess sets and six decks of pinochle.

Mrs. Hazel Hastings, the evenning recreational director, said that the pol tables are never empty. Many students are becoming more adept at bending over a pool table than at bending over a textbook. A table may be rented for 60 cents an hour. There are six tables in the game room.

Cards and other games may be checked out with an activity ticket.

Mrs. Replogle and Mrs. Hastings also play post office. They distribute the mail that comes to the University for the various organizations. Correspondence is placed in each organization's mail box at the information desk.

Mrs. Babette Crowder and Mrs. Teffie Morris respectively are the day and evening Student Center Hostesses. They are responsible for riding herd on the students in the Center, for opening the third floor rooms for special events and for setting up the activity board which is displayed on the first floor of the Center.

Music by Muzack is supplied throughout the first and second floors of the Union. The music comes to the Union over a telephone wire and is amplified. The Muzack system may be converted into a public address system by flipping a switch. Between 11:30 and 2:00, the Omaha University station, is piped into the Center.

'Bucks' Better Elsewhere?

Dear Gateway Editor:

Is the University going to be the social center of Omaha, or is it going to be the educational center of Omaha?

Referring to the article in the Oct. 27 issue, "Bowling Bucks Bounce Badly," it is utterly ridiculous to spend "roughly $100,000" in the installation of bowling alleys for the Student Center.

This "roughly $100,000" could be used to renovate some of the prehistoric classrooms in the Administration Building. Or it could be used to set up a scholarship fund for needy students.

Gooser Speaks To Sororities

Alvin H. Gooser, director of public relations for the World Insurance Company, spoke before sorority members and advisors from Omaha University and Creighton University Wednesday night.

The title of his speech was "The Indispensable Ingredient: Human Relations."

Various aspects of Greek campus life were then discussed in small representative groups. A summary was presented by discussion leaders following dinner in the Student Union cafeteria.

Five Groups Hold Parties

Exchange parties will occupy the time of five organizations for the next two weekends.

Tonight Alpha Xi Delta and Pi Kappa Alpha will get together at Hill Haven Barn. Sue Hornish is in charge of the party.

The "O" Club and Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority will follow a Western theme as they "whoop it up" at Santa Lucia Hall tomorrow night.

Sunday afternoon Tau Kappa Epsilon and Zeta Tau Alpha will meet in Elmwood Park for a picnic and football game.

Sig Ep's Enjoy 60th Anniversary

The 60th anniversary of Sigma Phi Epsilon will be celebrated at a Founders Day banquet Sunday.

The Sig Eps will attend a go-to-church Sunday first and then proceed to a banquet at Caniglia's Venice Inn.

Protest Filed Against Chi O

A verbal protest concerning election procedure was filed with Dean Curt Seimers against Chi Omega sorority Oct. 25.

The complaint was filed by Zeta Tau Alpha. Sue West president of Zeta's made the protest with the stipulation that the Chi O's candidates would not be disqualified from the elections.

The violation was against the "word of mouth" clause in the campaign rules. Chi Omega sent a letter to the Pen and Sword Society announcing their candidates for the upcoming elections.

As the rules stand now this is illegal. No written correspondence containing the names of candidates is allowed.

"Zeta Tau Alpha's purpose in bringing this action to the attention of Dean Seimers was to get a clarification of the rules," Sue said.

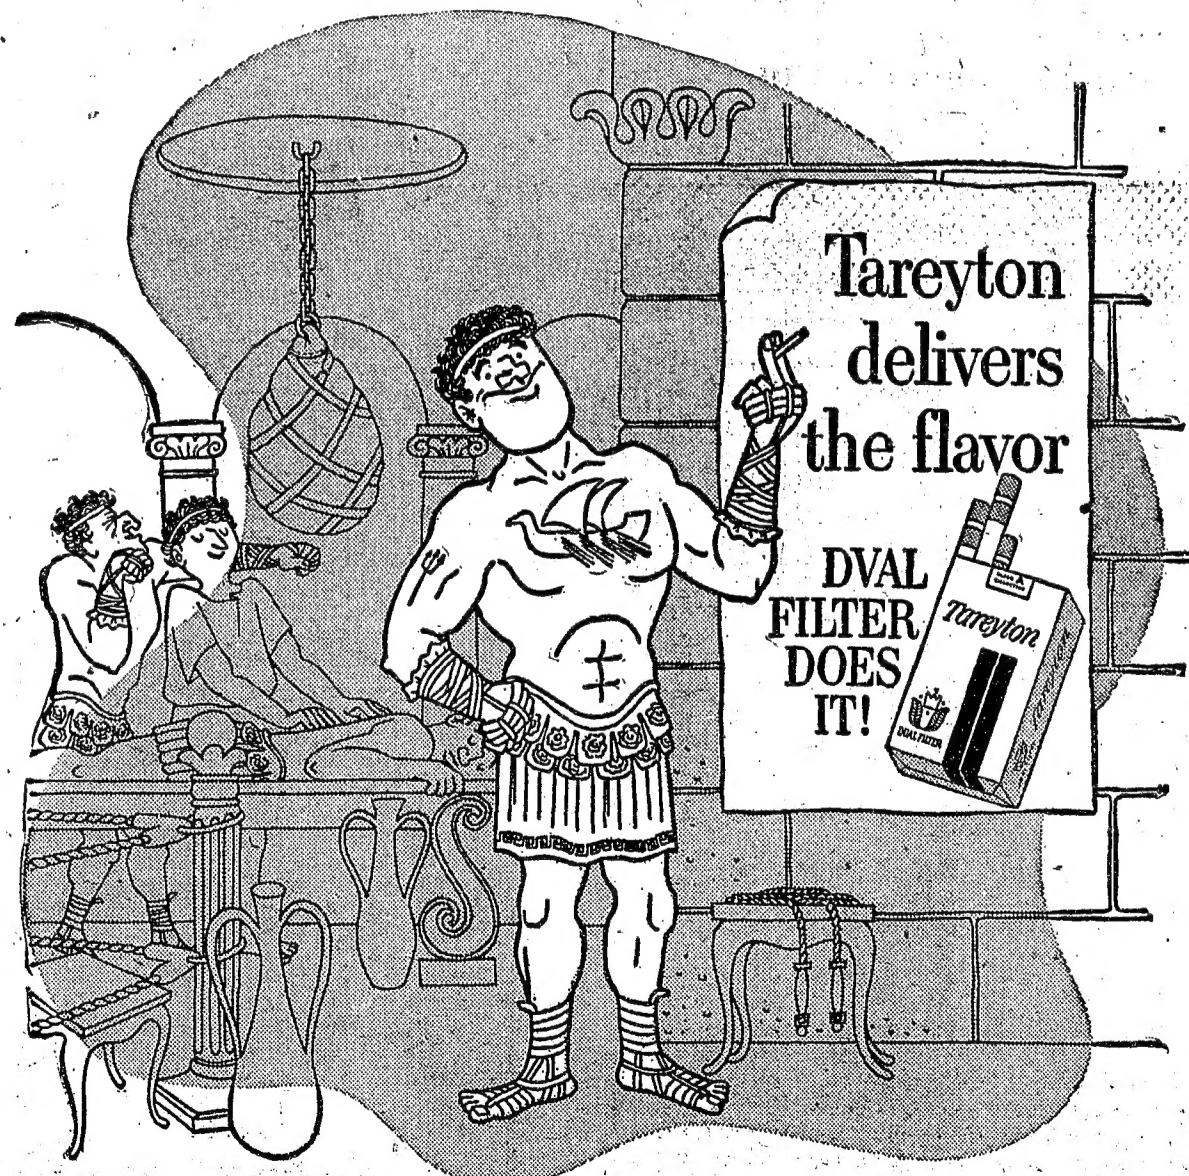

No written protest was submitted. A written complaint would have disqualified the Chi O's Candidates for Homecoming and Senior class officer.

Omaha University, on top of the heap, in the Central Inter-collegiate Conference football chase, goes after its fourth CIC win tomorrow against cellar dwelling Washburn.

The Indians scalped St. Benedict's last Saturday, 33-14, to keep pace with Pittsburg State.

The Gorillas are also 3-0 in the conference.

Washburn moves into the contest with a 3-4 overall record and Ferguson . . . Scores.

an 0-3 record in the CIC.

However, the Ichabods whipped Colorado Mines 20-6 the week after the Colorado club had upset the Indians 13-12. Since then the Kansans have lost to CIC clubs Emporia State, St. Benedict's and Pittsburg.

Tomorrow's clash has been designated as parents day at the University Stadium.

On a hah defensive linebacker Arch Ferguson gave the 5,000 homecoming fans a thrill as he grabbed a Raven fumble and "scampered" 66 yards to score.

Little Louie Miloni had his biggest day of the season, scoring twice on jaunts of 27 and 45 yards.

Roger Sayers scored once on a 50 yard dash. The Rocket now has nine touchdowns.

Hockey Loop for Students Formed

By Gary Sindelar

Amateur hockey is back! Yes, the newly formed amateur hockey league for Omaha University, will swing into full gear Tuesday, Nov. 7 at Ak-Sar-Ben.

The new loop which will receive full cooperation from the Omaha Hockey Club and General Manager Ken Wilson will consist of three teams plus a self-substituting team from Offutt Air Base.

League officials are currently looking for three Omaha businesses to sponsor the three remaining teams. These sponsors will be asked to supply sweaters, pants, and stockings for each player on their team.

Each team will consist of 15 players plus a goalie.

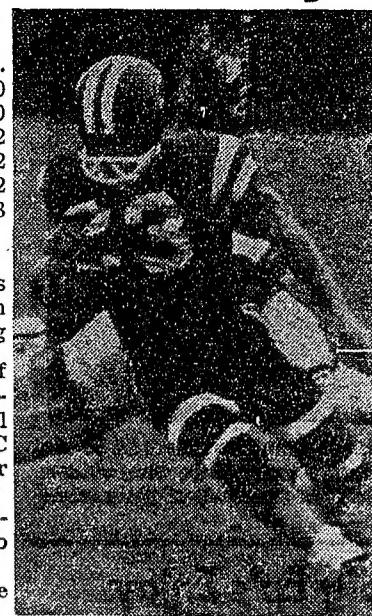

Tryouts for these teams will be held at the coliseum on Tuesday evening, Nov. 7 beginning at 7:30.

All men interested in hockey are invited to tryout.

Each must furnish his own equipment.

The tryouts will be supervised by Jake Forbes, former Omaha Knight great, and other hockey veterans.

A fifty-cent tryout fee will be charged to cover the use of the coliseum ice and help.

Louie Miloni eludes one tackler here in the Indians win over St. Benedict's Saturday. Miloni picked up 112 yards in the contest.

4 Lettermen Vie For Varsity Berths

Jim Borsheim, Omaha University cage boss, has four returning lettermen competing for varsity berths in Joe Neuberger, Bruce Hunter, Wendell Wiksell and Dave Haggard.

Other returning squad members are Jerry Kamphius and Al Konecky.

All-city performers Larry Villnow, Ken Conner and Bill King head the freshman crop of candidates.

Miloni Now 2nd Among Rushers

Omaha University halfback Louie Miloni grabbed the spotlight Saturday scoring two touchdowns and rolling up 102 yards in 12 tries against St. Benedict's.

The speedster now has a 5.9 rushing average through six games.

His running mate Roger Sayers continued to fly high scoring on a 50-yard run which enabled him to keep his 12-yard rushing average.

Correction

Last week it was reported in the GATEWAY that a OU Basketball Coach Jim Borsheim had established a 7-33 mark at Dakota Wesleyan. It should have been 77 wins and 33 losses.

WRA Softball

Three games were scheduled last week in Women's Recreation Association softball competition.

On Tuesday, Oct. 24, Chi Omega defeated Sigma Kappa and Zeta Tau Alpha won over Alpha Xi Delta on Wednesday, Oct. 25. Unaffiliated wound up the week's schedule on Thursday with a win over Zeta Tau Alpha. All of these games were won by forfeit.

O.U.'s last winning football season was in 1956 with a 6-2-1 record.

AAU Harrier Meet Is Today

About eight teams are expected to run in the Midwest Amateur Athletic Union Championship meet today at 4 p.m.

Ernie Gorr, Omaha University cross country coach and meet director, said that only two teams had officially entered so far but Doane, Nebraska Wesleyan, Wayne State, Dana and Midland were figured as late entries.

Nebraska University had named 16 harriers to compete and Kearney State 10 to 12.

Gorr said OU would enter runners in the meet but would not have enough to muster a team.

The District NAIA meet will be held Nov. 10 with the Central Intercollegiate Conference meet scheduled for Nov. 18 at Emporia.

Basketball Current Topic In OU Intramural Activities

Any organization or group wishing to enter a basketball team in the men's intramural program should contact Bert Kurth, intramural director, in Room 240 of the Administration Building no later than today.

An important meeting will be held in Room 301 of the Student Center for all the managers of the basketball teams. The meeting is set for Monday, November 13, at 1 p.m.

Football

With one game left in the season the Zeke Moe Joe's appear to be on their way to their second consecutive intramural flag football championship.

The Zeke's, with a 7-1 record, can do no less than tie for first.

Bowling

The Lams continued their winning ways Wednesday at West Lanes and managed to hold on to a two-point lead in intramural bowling.

Tom Doherty tied Steve Cochran's high season game with a 244. Bill Katzman had the high series at 617.

The Crew had the high team series and game with 752 and 2108 respectively.
